Part E: Child Care

Describe how the college is going to provide childcare services for CalWORKs students by addressing the following questions.

1. 1.Estimate your current unmet need for child care services for the children of CalWORKs students at your college.

As part of the initial CalWORKs project there will be a tracking system established to identify the number of students and children. This tracking system is being developed and will be completed by the end of the first cycle. The broad estimate for childcare services is 65-75 children; this number is beyond the capacity of our current Child Development Center. Our center does serve the need of TANF and non-TANF student-parents. The center also serves as a laboratory training facility for Child Development majors.

2. Estimate the number of CalWORKs students and number of children who will be provided childcare services through these funds.

The number of students to be serviced by the CalWork Child Care Allocation is estimated at 40 children (20 day programs + 20 evening programs) per day from January 1, 1998 - June 30, 1998. The cost for this on campus childcare is approximately $100,000. The remaining $34,000 can be used to issue vouchers for off campus child care for a minimum of twelve children for full day care for 6 months.

3. How will the college provide additional spaces in either existing or expanded college childcare and development services programs?

First, children of CalWorks students will be placed in available slots in the college's current Evening Childcare Program. We estimate that there will be 10 spaces for children ages 3-5 and 7 spaces for children ages 6-12 between 5 and 7 p.m., and 10 spaces for children ages 3-5 and 5 spaces for children ages 6-12 between 7 and 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

The college will coordinate a voucher program with the Contra Costa County Child Care Council. CalWORKs students whose childcare needs cannot be met on campus will be referred to the local childcare council for placement of their children. Infants will be placed in quality family day care.

The college has applied for a Child Care Facility Grant which would increase the current capacity for childcare. Funds will provide two portables that would serve 48 preschoolers aged 3-5 (from 1-7 p.m., the hours of most intense CalWORKs training).

4. How will the college collaborate with the county departments of social services, child care local planning councils, resource and referral agencies, and other subsidized child care resources to provide child care services to CalWORKs students?

The college is applying for a position on the local childcare Planning Council. The Department Chair in the Child Development program will hopefully be selected. Our local resource and referral agency, the Childcare Council, has agreed to place our college CalWORKs students in the community. They will operate the entire program of parent vouchers and be paid an appropriate administration fee.

We will collaborate with the Department of Social Services by continuing to attend its meetings and keeping it abreast of how we are utilizing our child care funds so that way we can better insure CalWORKs students on our campus use college CalWORKs funds before accessing Department of Social Services child care funds.

5. Describe the innovative uses of the funds to expand the breadth of childcare and development services by age, non-traditional time periods, wrap around services, etc.

Our current on campus facility will expand the school age childcare program in the evening to provide seven additional slots for children ages 5 years old - 12 years old.

Training programs/classes for parents are being planned as an afternoon and possibly weekend academy, therefore providing some access to the use of the current Child Development Center on campus. Through collaboration with local resource and referral agencies, we will be in a position to provide parent vouchers for off campus childcare and wrap around services.

Collaboration of this type between the local Child Care Council (Resource and Referral) and LMC is an example of a new and innovative approach to meeting the needs of CalWORKs families. In addition, wrap around services are being explored with our local Head Start Agency, state funded agencies to provide child care on campus. These services can be provided with the acquisition of portables.

6. How will the college coordinate the provision of childcare services through the on-campus centers or parental vouchers?

We will hire a coordinator out of the administrative funds who will be responsible for placing students in existing childcare slots and also work with the Child Care Council to insure prompt placement of children using parental vouchers.

7. Describe the quality standards used for child care and development services at your college and for off-campus referrals.

All childcare facilities must meet Title XXII state licensing requirements for teacher to child ratios. The ratio of infants to caregivers will be 4:1, toddlers to caregivers 6:1 preschoolers 12:1, and school age 14:1. Caregivers will meet requirements for the California State Children's Center Permit (see attached form). Standards for program organization and curriculum will be congruent with the National Association for the Education of Young Children's Developmentally Appropriate Practice in Early Childhood Programs. Approved practices for the children include:

- Materials and time for children to explore.
- Selection of their own activities from a variety of learning areas.
- Working individually or in small, informal groups most of the time.
- Learning activities with material and people relevant to their own life experience.
- Stimulation of learning in all developmental areas-physical, social, emotional and intellectual
- Development of confident, knowledgeable self-images, regardless of cultural and ethnic backgrounds, gender, or socioeconomic classes.
- Acquire empathy for others.
- Developing ability to stand up for themselves and others in discriminatory situations.
- 8. What steps will be taken to reduce the costs to come within the maximum CDE reimbursement rate the second year of implementation if your costs exceed the CDE reimbursement rate (no more than 15%) for the first year of implementation?

We would only need excess expenditures up to 15% for initial startup costs for equipment, supplies, and possibly a program not operating at full capacity. The initial costs would only be a one-time expenditure. If we were not at full capacity, we could increase our advertising and collaborative efforts with the Department of Social Services to bring the program to full capacity.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY "BAY AREA WORKFORCE PREPARATION PROJECT"

BACKGROUND:

The Bay Area Partnership and the Northern California Council for the Community commissioned the A.T. Kearney Company to produce the report entitled "Bay Area Workforce Preparation Project" The report, completed in July 1997, is comprised of five sections detailing information about recipients of public assistance (AFDC, GA and Food Stamps) and persons receiving unemployment insurance (UI) from the Employment Development Dept. (EDD). This summary, produced by Contra Costa County Social Service Department staff, is to provide the highlights of the report as it pertains to Contra Costa County.

AID AND UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE TREND ANALYSIS:

This section provides a report of a five year (1992-1994) trend analysis performed on aid recipients and UI recipients. Statistical information was gathered from both Social Service Department records (verified by State information) and EDD records. The findings in this section include:

- 6.8% or 31,461 of the labor force in Contra Costa County is receiving aid or UI. This compares regionally to 12.1% in Alameda County (high) or 3.5% in San Mateo County (low).
- There is a 7.1% job need rate in Contra Costa County as opposed to the state calculated 4.5% unemployment rate.
- 84% of those receiving aid or UI are considered employable
- Usage trends are generally on the decline due to roll cutting (GA), improving economy (all programs) and welfare reform and programs like GAIN (AFDC). Usage is increasing in Food Stamps, indicating people are working in non-living wage jobs. (Attachment A)

SURVEY RESULTS:

In order to understand how those on aid and UI can transition back into the workforce, qualitative profiles of individual recipients were needed. A survey was conducted, based on previous surveys done in San Mateo and San Francisco counties and tested in Alameda County, seeking to provide those profiles. PLEASE NOTE: Survey respondents, receiving AFDC, GA, Food Stamps or UI, were recruited on site in local offices by personal intercepts and were not part of a scientifically drawn sample. Findings of the survey include:

- Daytime, in-office intercept recruitment was the method used in Contra Costa County which may have a negative impact on the results of the survey as respondents tended to be newer recipients of aid and less likely to be employed.
- In Contra Costa County, the largest group of recipients of AFDC is African-American women, ages 25-39, in GA the largest group is African-American males, ages 25-39 and in Food Stamps the largest group is Caucasian women, 25-39. The largest group of recipients of UI recipients is Caucasian men over 40. These trends are consistent with the Bay Area as a region, except GA where the regional trend is African-American males over 40 years of age represent the largest group. (Attachment B)
- 66%+ of the respondents in all aid categories reported an education level of high school or beyond. 80% of those receiving UI have this level of education. (Attachment C)

• 69 % of AFDC recipients have been on aid 5 years or less; 67% of GA recipients have been on aid 1 year or less and 72% of Food Stamp recipients have been on aid 1 year or less.

80%+ of all respondents are not working, with 38% having worked in the last year, except GA where the trend was 25%. This is consistent with the Bay Area, except for GA which regionally has a 40% rate of work in the last year.

- The two most common reasons cited for not being in the workforce were: Transportation barriers and not having enough job skills/experience.
- The top three barriers to re-entry into the workforce are: "Unable to find a job", "Just laid off or fired" and "Not enough job skills/experience". (Attachment D)
- 50%+ of all respondents report not using any job search program, public or private.

RESOURCE ANALYSIS:

A review of county resource allocations was made to better understand where the county is focusing monies and the appropriateness of the those allocations given the indicated barriers to employment. Workforce re-entry is divided into four stages: 1) Crisis/well-being, 2) Work-skill development, 3) Logistics and 4) Advancement to self-sufficiency. County budget years 96-7 and 97-8 were the basis of the analysis. Money spent by non-profit organizations was also categorized and included. Resource dollars were allocated into the four stages based on the purpose of the dollars spent. The findings of this analysis include:

- 95% of resources went to crisis/well-being, 3% went to work-skill development, 2% went to logistics and 0% went to advance self-sufficiency. (Attachment E)
- Some barriers and the corresponding resource allocations are: 50%+ could not find jobs, yet only 2% was allocated to job placement services; 22% report transportation problems yet 0% was allocated to transportation services; 20% cite personal health and disability as a barrier with 41% of funds allocated to meet this need.

OCCUPATIONAL GROWTH PROJECTIONS:

A detailed occupational growth projection was created and compared to the job experience of those on aid and UI to assess where those coming off aid might find work. Job growth projections are based on the latest EDD "Occupational Outlook" (1994-2000) and the numbers of aid recipients re-entering the labor force are based on the new welfare laws and educated assumptions. In matching jobs with recipients of aid and UI needing employment, skills and desires were assessed. Some of the projections arrived at include:

- There is a projected job growth of 6.5% (25,081 new jobs) over the next five years. The Bay Area regional growth rate is 6%. During this time it is expected 14,000 aid and UI recipients in Contra Costa County will need jobs. (Attachment F)
- 84% of those on aid or UI in Contra Costa County are considered employable (26,437). This represents 10% of the Bay Area employable aid and UI recipients.
- Approximately 6,600 low-education and 7,300 high-education recipients will be joining the workforce over the next five years.
- The job market is projected to be able to absorb new workers with high-education because of a high capacity for this type of job. However, there is a low capacity to absorb low-education workers.

- Of the top ten new growth occupations, 56% of those wanting cashier positions, 85% of those wanting janitor/cleaner jobs and 78% of those wanting secretarial work can be absorbed. The other 8 areas of experience have full capacity. (Attachment G)
- From the top 25 occupations survey respondents preferred, the market is projected to be able to absorb all interested in sales counter clerk, cashier and truck driving. From the same 25 occupations the market will be unable to absorb those interested in computer operation, bookkeeping, electrician and social work. (Attachment H)

TRAINING PROGRAM INVENTORY:

To assess the ability of the region to train its aid and UI recipients for jobs that are becoming available, a comprehensive training inventory was developed. The inventory is the integration of the "State Training Inventory" database, compiled by EDD, the county training directories from PIC and newly identified education centers. This resulted in a two-volume guide covering the entire Bay Area. Some statistical information about the guide includes:

- There are 85 "soft skill" training programs in the Bay Area, 30 of which, representing 35% of the Bay Area total, are in Contra Costa County. Of the 2,877 "hard skill" training programs in the Bay Area, 408 or 14% are in Contra Costa.
- Of the top ten occupations for low-education recipients, only 2 training programs from the top ten being provided in the county apply. This would indicate there are no training programs in the county for 80% of the jobs projected. (Attachment I)

PROJECT IMPLICATIONS FOR CONTRA COSTA COUNTY:

The project report only gives the findings of the investigations that were undertaken. There is no attempt on the part of the authors to draw conclusions or to make recommendations. However, some of the issues raised by the report may warrant further discussion, investigation or action. For example:

- The usage increase in Food Stamps, indicating an increase in the number of "working poor", shows the need to improve job retention/ job enhancement services. It seems clear that assistance to working families to improve skill levels, enabling them to move up the employment ladder toward self-sufficiency is needed.
- Further investigation is needed to determine specific transportation barriers.
- The job market in Contra Costa County is strong; however, there is a need for entry-level, low-education jobs to meet the increased demands of the welfare reform environment.
- Resources need to be redirected, or new resources found, to provide employment-focused services.
   Self-sufficiency must become a fiscal as well as program goal.
- Participants' job goals/desires in many cases do not match market demands. The issue becomes how to help job-seekers align their goals with job potentials.
- Contra Costa County has over one-third of the Bay Area's "soft skill" training. However, there are only 30 such dedicated training programs- and for entry-level workers, those are the skills most desired by employers.
- Efforts need to be undertaken to align the training being offered with the job market in the county. These efforts need to be considered in conjunction with the job-seeker goal/desire issue mentioned above so that new training programs, which consider both the demands of consumers and the job market can be developed.

LABOR FORCE DATA FOR SUB-COUNTY AREAS (Data Not Seasonally Adjusted)
1996 BENCHMARK

Monthly sub-county data are derived by multiplying current estimates of county-wide employment and unemployment by the respective employment and unemployment shares (percentages) in each sub-county area at the time of the 1990 Census. Sub-county labor force is then obtained by summing employment and unemployment, and the result is divided into unemployment to calculate the unemployment rate. Based on Each Area's 1990 Census Share of County Employment and Unemployment

This method assumes that the rates of change in employment and unemployment, since 1990, are exactly the same in each sub-county area as at the county level (i.e., that the shares are still accurate). If this assumption is not true for a specific sub-county area, then the estimates for that area may not be representative of the current economic conditions. Since this assumption is untested, caution should be employed when using these data.

All unemployment rates shown are calculated on unrounded data. These data are not seasonally adjusted.

CCD stands for Census County Division. CDP stands for Census Designated Place.

County Data are for September (Preliminary) 1997

Selected Industry and Occupational Data Available From Employment Development Department Labor Market Information Division

im 800 - MII get into

The Labor Market Information Division in the Employment Development Department is the state source for industry and occupational data. The group performs occupational and industry research statewide and looks at data at the county level through a cooperative agreement with the Contra Costa County Private Industry Council. The following materials are particularly targeted to occupational program planners. Attached are extracts from the Contra Costa Projections of Employment by Occupation. Jeanette Miller, the Pleasant Hill Labor Market Consultant from Labor Market Information Division, can be reached at 510-602-1588 for further information.

INDUSTRY TRENDS AND OUTLOOK

From 1994 to 2001, nonagricultural employment in Contra Costa County will grow by 35,100 jobs, including both full-time and part-time positions. This represents a 12 percent gain over the seven-year period. All the industry divisions will show increases; two-thirds of the job additions will be in the services industry division.

The services industry division will add the largest number of the new jobs in the county between 1994 and 2001, a projected 22,700 new jobs. Expansion in business services alone will account for 43 percent or 9,800 of the new jobs in the services division. The industries in business services (see table) include a wide variety of activities ranging from computer programming to building maintenance. Personnel supply firms will continue their recent fast rate of growth and add about 3,900 jobs while computer programming and data processing will add about 2,000 jobs over the seven-year forecast period.

The amusements category will follow the business services industry as the second leading gainer in the services division. Close to 4,000 new jobs are forecast for the amusements category which covers health clubs, amusement parks, theatrical producers, as well as motion picture production and theaters. Payrolls will also expand significantly, by just over 2,000 jobs, in engineering and management services which also includes accounting and research firms. Meanwhile, the health services industry will add 2,000 jobs, but it will expand at a slower-than-average rate. Growth centered in outpatient care and in home health care will more than offset decreases at hospitals. The remaining services industries are expected to gain between 400 and 700 new jobs each.

Retail trade will add 4,400 jobs between 1994 and 2001. About one-fourth of the gains will occur at restaurants and bars. Most retail categories are forecast to grow at a slower-than-average rate with the exception of furniture and building supply stores which are each anticipated to expand by over 20 percent.

Government payrolls are projected to increase by 3,600 jobs, and the new jobs will account for about 10 percent of the total of all new jobs. Local public education alone will add about 1,500 jobs due to increased enrollments and reduced class sizes for the elementary schools. City, county, and special districts payrolls are also expected to increase by a combined 2,100. State payrolls will show a net gain of 300 due largely to the additions anticipated at the new California Department of Health Services lab facility in Richmond offsetting slow declines in other parts of state government payrolls. Federal employment payrolls are expected to decline.

Construction employment is rebounding from its low point in 1992 and will expand by 1,100 new jobs by 2001. Residential building in Contra Costa County is expected to increase as new housing in the eastern county area is built. Another area where there will be sustained building activity is in the new community of Dougherty Valley, near San Ramon.

Employment in manufacturing will expand by 1,100 over the seven-year projection period. The gain will represent a net 4 percent increase. Most of the industries will show relatively small job gains. The instruments category is forecast to grow by about 400; the chemical industry will expand by 300; and printing and publishing firms and transportation equipment manufacturers will add about 200 jobs each. On the down side, it is expected the petroleum and coal products industry will shrink and lose about 400 jobs over the seven years, and the the stone, clay, glass industry will decline by 300 jobs.

The transportation and public utilities division will gain 1,000 jobs between 1994 and 2001. The trucking and warehousing firms are expected to add about 500 jobs over the seven-year period. The communications industry will expand by 200 jobs.

Wholesale trade is expected to add a total of 800 jobs. The gain will be distributed equally between the durable and nondurable goods categories.

The mining industry will add about 200 new jobs to payrolls over the seven years.

Finance, insurance and real estate payrolls will rise by 100. Substantial gains in the insurance industry, about 900 jobs over the forecast period, are mostly offset by the decline in employment in depository banks (most of which have occurred early in the projections period). The number of jobs in banks and savings and loans will go down somewhat due to consolidations and the increased use of electronic banking. The real estate category is expected to show no change.
